

Planning Care for the Future

Wednesday, February 28: 10:00 am – 12 Noon

Hartismere Place Care Home in Eye is inviting members of the local community to a free event designed to provide support for people considering future care for themselves or a loved one.

On Wednesday 28th February from 10am-12 noon, the team will open the doors to the care home on Castleton Way for its free 'Planning your future care' event.

Experts, Lorna Denton-Cardew from Jackamans Solicitors, and Steven Hendrie, a wealth management specialist, will be on hand to give local people professional advice and guidance about funding long-term care for their loved one – whether it's in their own home or in a care home.

After the event there will be a Q&A session, and those who attend will also have the opportunity to meet the team at Hartismere Place and take a tour of the care home.

Matthew Calver, Home Manager, at Hartismere Place said: "With an ageing population, it is more important than ever to prepare for future care, so we hope all those considering the future care of a loved one will take the opportunity to benefit from the expertise provided in this free session. "We are delighted to have Steve and Lorna joining us for the event. As a trusted professionals with a wealth of experience in care planning, we are sure they will both help to transform the experiences of many who are thinking about putting plans in place for the future."

Hartismere Place is a state-of-the-art care home which provides full-time residential, nursing and dementia care, as well as short-term respite care. Designed to enable residents to live enjoyable and fulfilling lives, the care home has its very own cinema and hairdressers, and there is plenty of space for relaxation and recreation including large lawn and garden area.

There is also a purpose-built day club for the local community next to the care home.
